All Saints Sunday

At the turn of the Century... Well.... This is it. We have arrived at the 'eve' of our celebratory events to commemorate the hundred years that Holy Eucharist Parish has been active here in East Kildonan. We are honoured and privileged to be the parishioners that will give thanks to God on behalf of ourselves and all those that have come before us over the past 100 years. We will be the parishioners that will host our fellow members today as well as some former parishioners that will be "home coming" and other sisters and brothers in Christ that will be joining us to celebrate with us - not least of all, our Metropolitan Archbishop Lawrence Huculak. We are also the parishioners that will ask forgiveness from our Lord and from each other (on behalf of our parish collectively, but especially on behalf of ourselves) for the times when we forgot who we are as a parish and that a parish is a living part of the loving and merciful 'Mystical Body of Christ' called to live and spread the Gospel and the virtues of Love, Hope and Faith. But we are also the parishioners that will remember the wonderful history of our parish. Good men and women that sacrificed much to make the parish successful over the years. Many pioneers that have completed the earthly journey, as well as some that continue in our day to be a blessing in our parish, were truly dedicated and they gave so much of what we now often call, their "time, talent and treasure". We are grateful to them all and we are inspired by their example. We ask the Lord to bless the celebrations this week. Let them serve as a time of reflection...A time of reconciliation as needed....A time of renewing and going deeper into our Ukrainian Catholic Faith, especially as regards the Holy Eucharist... And... let them all just be a good time, where everyone knows that they are welcome and appreciated. Let us make a point of kindly welcoming everyone and letting them know that they are appreciated. Many people have been doing so much to prepare these events and our heartfelt thanks goes out to them. Let us also show our gratitude by attending the events and keeping an eye open that if we see a way in which we can support their efforts by offering help, participating or just smiling... let's do that. God bless us all with a wonderful week!
