COVID-19 PANDEMIC PARISH WEEKLY UPDATE - NO. 22

Why would I attend the Divine Liturgy EVERY DAY?

It is an opportunity to spend time with the Lord - my one and only Saviour. It is an opportunity to spend time with the One Who loves me so much that He died for me. He is my God and the creator of the universe and everything that exists in it and yet He wants me to spend all eternity with Him, because He loves me that much. So He chose to give me life. He chose that I would exist and He loves me so terribly much that He walks with me each and every moment and He grants me every grace that I need (and much more that I need or even deserve). He never leaves me even when I ignore or forget about Him. He lets me choose. There are always consequences for my choices, but He encourages me to make the right choice and then I choose. Sometimes I fall. Sometimes I have made terrible mistakes and maybe I've even done some terrible things before Him and/or to His other Children that He also loves like me. He still loves me. He still wants me to get it right and achieve the heights to which He calls me. He doesn't give up on me and won't - right up to the very end when there are no more choices to be made and a final judgement is made. I can be with Him every day through that awesome miracle we call the Divine Liturgy. I can become one with Him in Holy Communion. Why wouldn't I want to do that? There's really no reason. Oh, there's no obligation, but there's no reason why not. I am "obliged" (really?) to attend the Divine Liturgy every Sunday and major Church holiday and, thus it is a "sin" if I don't, but should that even be a consideration? Should we need to be coerced into spending time with the One Who loves us more than anyone?... the One Who created us and gives us life eternal?... the One Who watches over us daily and gives us our Daily Bread and all the grace that we need to have a beautiful life? That does sound pretty bizarre if we had to explain it to someone, not? The thing is is that we have every right to attend every Divine Liturgy (unless it is restricted for a good reason). It doesn't matter for whom the "intention" is. It is always for everyone! An intention simply offer an opportunity for someone or some cause to be the special focus of our prayer that day.

Now with Covid - we have many opportunities to attend the Divine Liturgy. If not in-person (yes that takes a bit of planning) then online by livestreaming! Your brothers and sisters need your prayer and they want you to pray with them! And they want to pray with you! Please, participate in the Divine Liturgy DAILY! If you are not too ill or if you do not have appointments that you must attend to—please either arrange to come to the church or tune in online via the livestreaming offered by your parish. Yes, it will take bit of effort to get into the habit and make it work every day, but so do thing like, say... marriage, good health, writing, gardening, being a good father/mother, keeping a job, etc. GIVE YOURSELF AND YOUR LORD A CHANCE. Your Church and society need you to make this commitment. Pray about it! (maybe start at tomorrow's Divine Liturgy....)

Congratulations to our Children receiving FIRST SOLEMN HOLY COMMUNION today and to their Families! We're proud of you all!

This is truly a happy day! Last Sunday they received the wonderful Sacrament of Penance - i.e. they went to Confession for the first time - and today they receive the Lord in Holy Communion after a year of preparation through the Parish Catechism program. The original 1st Holy Communion event was to have taken place toward the end of May, but as you and the whole world knows - we slipped into a pandemic well before that. Well, the families of the candidates and the catechism teachers - especially the Director Pat Sirski - decided, hey this is a special milestone in the life of every Catholic and a life-changing rite of passage, so let's do it! We'll be careful and adhere to the health directives, etc. and have this special event for the Children and their families and everyone else can participate by livestreaming. So, today Liam Link, Emilia Rush Sirski, Sarah Mickall and Stella Sirski Mitchnik receives the Lord Jesus Who loves each and every one of them in... Holy Communion. Please keep them in your prayer and always let them know that they and their families are always welcome in Christ's Church and, especially at Holy Eucharist Parish!
